RelayHealth EDI Solutions

Improving your Bottom Line

Lytec® users now have the opportunity to improve reimbursements by adding electronic data interchange (EDI) services from RelayHealth, McKesson's connectivity services company. RelayHealth operates as a neutral partner in an open network to support quality care improvements and reduce the administrative costs of healthcare. Lytec is integrated with the following RelayHealth EDI services: electronic claims submission, electronic remittance advice, and eligibility verification.

The suite of transaction processing services powered by RelayHealth dramatically speeds your cash flow, reduces your labor costs, is easy to learn and use, and comes at a price that's actually affordable.

Electronic Claims Submission: Connects to payors and trading partners through HIPAA-standard transactions that reduce A/R days, increase operational efficiency, enhance profitability and lower administrative costs.

Electronic Remittance Advice: Captures remittance advice from payors and translates into a standard format for automatic posting, which automates payment posting, eliminates data entry errors, maintains accurate A/R days and lowers administrative costs.

Eligibility verification: Automates the verification process for insurance eligibility from payors, saving staff time, streamlining registration, and reducing the errors and omissions that lead to denials.

RelayHealth EDI solutions:

- Eliminate manual claims and remittance processing
- Process claims with unprecedented speed and accuracy
- Instantly determine patient eligibility
- Help you to easily connect with payors and stay current on payor rules for more successful claims submissions
- Free staff for other vital administrative functions

RelayHealth is one of the largest transaction processing centers in the United States, processing more than 1 billion transactions per year.
